> Do Bad Guys Work Weekends?

Defeating hackers and computer security with

Stephen Quinney, Tues 18/4 @ 6.30pm in CG60

```
J1000010110010L
                    J010110110100101101
                   01.0111101001101111010
                   11.
                  11
                                                    110.
                        1110
                                  .1011
110.
                  1:01)
                          J000L
                                  )( )(
 2001
                  2000
                                                   J100r
  10000€
                   J00000
                  110010000° . 00100001
                                               .10010°
   1000a
                   1011010010
     110110.
                                             .101001
                    101 .10130110 111
      1010011
        10000000L
                    00 x 10 1, 0 x 000
                     111,1.1(1.1,111
          111111111.
            יווו. יווה יוווסוווים אווייוויי
              .0000050010" .0000000 "0000500010
                 111100000011 0000011111
                    10010002101100.2000
                  2015,10110105,01101101
                                           ,110
             1111, 1001, 011110, 0011011110, 00110, 110, 110,
    2000 1000000 0000 100000° 2000000 000000 000000 000000 0000
    11 ... 11111 1111
                                       11011111
               1101110.
                                    2000101
```

Do bad guys work weekends? Are they nocturnal? Do they take a holiday at christmas? Stephen Quinney (senior computing officer at the school of informatics at the university of edinburgh) will be examining security advice and explaining how best to secure systems against hackers

Tuesday 18/4, Talk @ 6.30pm in CG60. Free pizza in ChemCafe from 6pm.